December Employee Spotlight
Arthur Rodgers, Neighborhood Service Officer

I am a Neighborhood Service Officer - most do not understand that title until the words "Code Enforcement" are mentioned. My primary duty is to establish a rapport with Duncanville citizens by listening, educating, enforcing, and maintaining city ordinances while providing quality customer service. During my time here, I have worked in Litter Control, at the Rec Center, and currently in Neighborhood Services. My favorite part of my present role is gaining compliance because there is a feeling of accomplishment in making the City of Duncanville safe and clean. The major highlight in my career is working with the other Neighborhood Service Officers, Director, and Executive Assistant; they are the true dream team! The City's Neighborhood Service Officers have almost 100 years of Code Enforcement experience, knowledge, skill set, and professionalism. Who would not be proud of their city being represented by such hard-working individuals? A recent accomplishment was abating a property in the city that had become an eye sore to the neighborhood caused by several code violations. The NSOs and I were able to give relief to the community by removing the trash and debris and filling two 30-yard dumpsters in the process. Several citizens of the area drove by and approached us to say, "thank you." Most people do not know I am a Military Veteran that served in the United States Army for eight years. I was also formerly employed with the City of Dallas as a Code Enforcement Officer for 23 years.

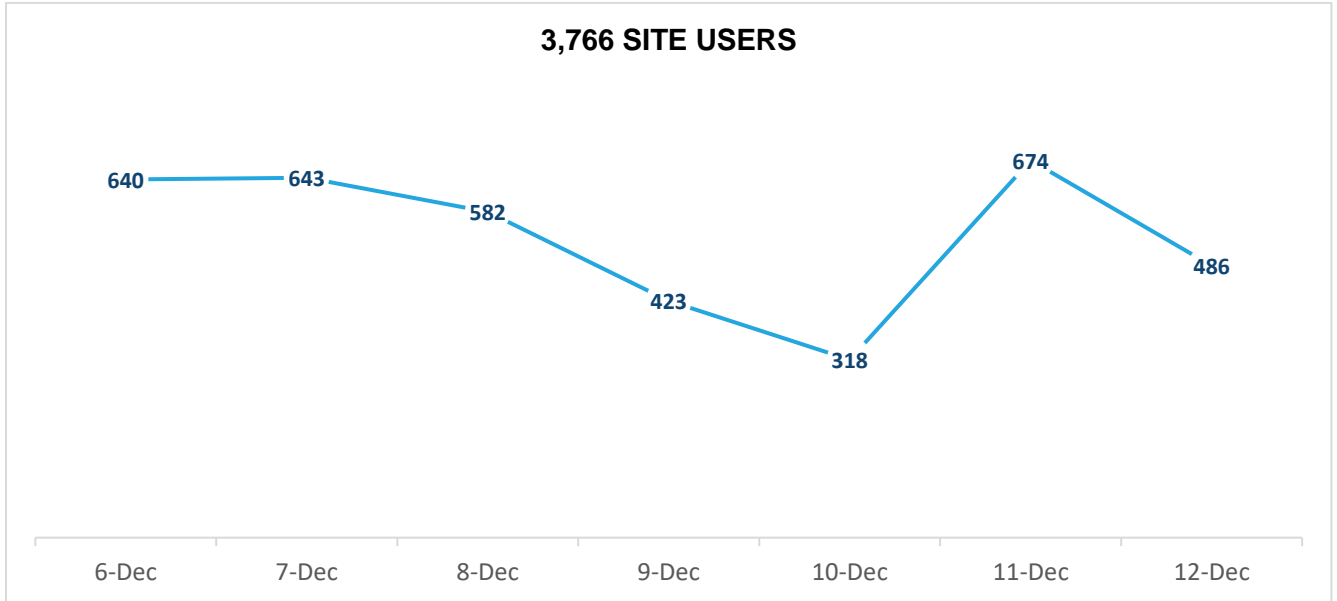

On December 7, 2023, the Duncanville Arts Commission hosted their first mixer, which brought art and business together. The mixer, sponsored by the Duncanville Community and Economic Development Corporation, encouraged attendees to donate non-perishable food items and toys benefiting the Duncanville Public Library's Little Pantry and the Police Department's Santa Cop respectively. Members of the City Council, Boards, Commissions and the Community were present for the successful debut event held at both Smokey D'z BBQ and Day Drink Wine and Cocktail Lounge.
